Sidus Group Grows by 59% During 2002

The Sidus Group, through its principal operating entities, grew its income during Fiscal Year 2002 by an astounding 59%. Additionally, Sidus has now completed nine consecutive quarters of profitability.

The surge in demand for web hosting services coupled with the troubles of competitive companies has combined to fuel this growth.

Mark L. Powell, CEO, states: “The web continues to gain momentum as companies are aggressive utilizing this medium for driving sales, creating efficiency, providing client support, and enhancing ROI. As the general economy improves more firms are discovering that the web can be a powerful tool for their operating model.”

Sidus is very focused on supporting businesses in the utilization of the web for enhancing operations. Over the past year, Sidus has added many prominent customers, including The Terminal Corporation, The United States Marine Corps, AmDyne Corporation, and many others.

The two principal operating entities for Sidus are:

AlwaysOnline.net: Dedicated server leasing and collocation services for multiple operating systems.

RaqShaq.com: Sun Cobalt Dedicated server leasing and collocation services.
